Overview

Your animal companions offer you their unique sense of love, joy and fun. So in the moment and clear in their personalities and desires, they make for great teachers in simply being themselves and your being able to share in their experiences. Our animal companions, be they still with you or in the Spirit World, have so much more to share than on the face of things. Further still, the animals who cross your path, or those you come across in nature, have a rich history coupled with their own guidance and messages too.

Participants will learn:

- *How to connect at a psychic level with animals still here
- *How to purposefully establish a conversation with animals in the Spirit World
- *Obtain greater awareness and receptivity to signs from your departed animals
- *Recognize and apply the lessons of your animal companions in your own life
- *Understand when animals in nature are messengers and how to listen

No experience is necessary in psychic development, mediumship, or animal communication to participate.

Chris DeSerio, MA, CHt is an internationally renowned medium and energy healer who took his original anxieties and fears of the Spirit World and how he seemed to feel and know things inexplicably as a child, and embraced a path of learning that he now shares in the roles of teacher, tutor, and friend. He's been interviewed and featured by numerous publications on topics ranging from manifesting a better life to animal communication to being an intuitive healer (and how that comes into play as a psychotherapist and hypnotist). He has made several guest appearances on The Lois Wright Show in East Hampton, NY in which his unique blend of healing skills were explored. One of Chris' greatest gifts is in helping people recognize their unique connection to the Spirit World and how to best benefit from that exchange of what is love, compassion, awareness, understanding, and tremendous growth for those open to these life-changing experiences. To aid in this path of exploration, Chris authored The 2 Keys for You to Succeed in Business and Personal Life Using Your Natural Psychic Gift and is busy at work finalizing several other texts and guides to further expand your development.
