Overview

The Spirit World is always ready and waiting to work with you. Be it your personal growth or professional development, those in spirit can play a significant, if not pivotal, role in every success. It's your charge to learn and continually work on being better able to receive what they have to share in terms of guidance, philosophy, and messages along with proof of survival after the change called death for those loved ones wishing to make contact. Feeling, more than logic, is a definite and tireless motivator so that drawing Spirit all the more near allows you to experience just that in your conscious, personal workings. Further still, the essence of the spirits are well-felt by and demonstrated to those in your company as they make themselves known in a mediumship practice or public demonstration. It cannot be overstated that the connection that takes place in these altered states is so very unique in the impact of the information shared and how that loved ones in Spirit seem to truly defy time and, in a sense, come back to life in quite a salient way during that contact thereby touching those still here in the physical more deeply than can a simple listing of evidence or a free-floating message. Workshop will provide the following:

- *Participants will learn and understand the various applications of trance both in metaphysical practice and everyday life
- *Learn techniques to get into the different trance states
- *Have Spirit speak through you
- *Participants will engage in inspired speaking
- *Have guides disseminating Spirit philosophy using your voice
- *Have loved ones speaking for themselves through you

Chris DeSerio, MA, CHt is an internationally renowned medium and energy healer who took his original anxieties and fears of the Spirit World and how he seemed to feel and know things inexplicably as a child, and embraced a path of learning that he now shares in the roles of teacher, tutor, and friend. He's been interviewed and featured by numerous publications on topics ranging from manifesting a better life to animal communication to being an intuitive healer (and how that comes into play as a psychotherapist and hypnotist). He has made several guest appearances on The Lois Wright Show in East Hampton, NY in which his unique blend of healing skills were explored. One of Chris' greatest gifts is in helping people recognize their unique connection to the Spirit World and how to best benefit from that exchange of what is love, compassion, awareness, understanding, and tremendous growth for those open to these life-changing experiences. To aid in this path of exploration, Chris authored The 2 Keys for You to Succeed in Business and Personal Life Using Your Natural Psychic Gift and is busy at work finalizing several other texts and guides to further expand your development.
